Electrofire Invasion

My brain hurts
My eyes blur
I am crushed
I am numb and motionless from electrofire invasion
Save me
Save me
My head spins
My cells shiver
My thoughts dissolve
I am numb and motionless from electrofire invasion
Save me
Save me

Electro Half Light

To be so disconnected
From the modern world I know and love
Feels so cruel and painful
Intolerably cruel and painful
Yet the shelter I inhabit will not save me
From the electro half light
And although my sensory threshold
Has been breached and flooded
I am a new estuary
And the music in my soul still resonates
Like a deep ultrasonic wave
And I must find a way to speak to you
In this electro half light
So lifting my instrument
From it's still life cushion
And stroking the silver dust from it's strings
I reach out and find you again
And fixing my gaze on the living horizon
In this electro half light
I need to find a way
To tell you

Masts on my Roof

Masts on my roof
Up on the 10th floor of 10
Pulsing above my head day and night
Electro fallout's engulfing me
As I sit alone
I raise my hand to feel my brow
I am cold and I want to be warm again
Cradle me back to the surface
And calm my shivering cells
Electro sensitivity
Challenging connectivity
Flickering strip light resonates in my ears
Vibrating my eyes and distorting my vision
So here I sit
My life out of bounds
There's no escape no electrofire extinguisher
Yet fall out must subside in a quiet safe place
But here I sit
In a frozen perspective
Electro sensitivity
'Good morning' said the doctor

What seems to be the problem
The mobile phone masts on your roof making you feel very ill?
And ... tell me
Are you hearing any voices ?
No...I'm not
You look very ill to me
But there's nothing we can do
We can only wish you luck
Microwave binary frequencies
Signalling and transmitting
Modifying our destiny relentless and blind
This inaudible tide
Pulses everywhere
I'm electrosensitive
Where do I go from here?

Cosmic Tango

Up on the 10th floor
I run out of food
I need to make a dash for the supermarket
So tripping down the fire escape
Dodging the strip lights
I reach fresh air traffic and resonance
Sprint down the street
Dodging the microwaves
Street light displays and CCTV cameras
Now in the entrance
Zapped by the scanners
Every little slogan dazzling my eyes
I'm in here now
Got to get some sustenance
And navigate my exit on automatic pilot
My heart is pounding
My vision destabilised
I'm counting down from 9 to 1 to minimise my panic
At 9-8-7 I'm clutching spanish oranges
At 6-5-4 I tumble white milk
At 3-2-1 I reaching out for scottish bread
Small piercing eco-lights causing me to blank
Cosmic tango
Electrify your energy today
(The cosmic tango in your head is real totally real)
Reaching the check out
Tills and lasers shimmering
Microwaves drowning me I've got to get out
I'm stuck in a queue
Mobile ringtone orchestras
Drilling behind me and zapping my brain
I race out of hazard now
Abandoning my trolley
Side stepping school kids and leaving all my food
Hurling past security
I reach the open pavement
I sit down on the edge I'm tango'd totally tango'd

Dr Carlo

Never in my mind
Could I have known what he knows
So thank you for talking to us Dr Carlo
Suddenly I see
What is happening to me
Thank you for talking to us Dr Carlo

I listened and watched
As diagrams appeared on the wall
100 or more of us receiving you loud and clear
Carlo says we suffer from membrane sensitivity
Disrupting our cells deep inside
My face burns
My heart cramps
My orientation fades
At least now I know why
Never in my mind
Could I have known what he knows
So thank you for talking to us Dr Carlo
And clung to every word he said
My face burns
My heart cramps
My orientation fades
Will I ever be the same again
